    - Saturday Mornings seems to be when the most appointments are available.
  - What do I need to book?
    - Name/Phone Number/Email/Address/Insurance Information (if applicable)
    - Search Location...site will look at available appointments ~25 from your location.

Walgreens

- When do appointments typically post on the website?
  - Mornings between 6-8 (Most success at 7am)
- What do I need to book?
  - YOU MUST HAVE A WALGREENS.COM ACCOUNT SET UP
    - Once you have this make sure you log in to what ever device you will be looking for appointments on. They ask you to authenticate on any new device and this may slow down your booking.
  - Name/Phone Number/Email/Address/Insurance Information (if applicable)
  - Search Location...site will look at available appointments ~25 from your location.
- Big Y
  - No appts until Mid March
- Primary Care Hospital Systems
  - Examples are (Beth Israel Lahey Clinic, Circle Health, Mass General Brigham, etc)
  - These tend to be the best option for those with health conditions.
  - Most systems have been communicating with their patients via email and text. If you are working on an appointment for somebody else you will want to:
    - See if they have a profile set up with the hospital.
    - Identify with the primary care doctor their hospital affiliations.

- Reach out to the hospital to see how you can get an appointment (This is much easier than working through one of the mass vaccination sites)
- Mass Vaccination Locations
  - Typically, most appointments are added at 8am ET on Thursdays.
  - $\circ$   $\;$  These will open up through the day but its very difficult to get one.
  - $\circ$   $\,$  The key is to not get frustrated and locks of refreshing the screen.
